

LG&E and KU

Louisville, Kentucky

Founded in 1838 as Louisville Gas & Water, the Corporation is now known as Louisville Gas & Electric and Kentucky Utilities (LG&E and KU), providing more than 1.3 million customers with electric and/or natural gas service in 77 Kentucky counties and 16 counties in Virginia. LG&E and KU has several company-wide programs to support Guard and Reserve employees. Its Armed Forces Energy professional group mentors Guard and Reserve employees in setting and achieving career goals. In addition, human resource managers, recruiting and staffing specialists are required to attend “Military 101” training sessions to be able to fully support Guard and Reserve employee needs. LG&E / KU has a full-time military recruiter whose mission is to aggressively recruit National Guard and Reserve members and veterans for employment. The company hosts numerous service member recognition events and supports military families with care packages and thank-you cards while Reservist employees are away for training or deployment. <https://lge-ku.com/careers>
